INDEX TO VOLUME CLXIII.

AUTHORS.

Adler, Herman M. Some effects of overfeeding with fats in certain cases of insanity, 225.
Alford, L. B. Ten obscure cases of mental disease: a clinical and anatomical study, 182.
Allen, Freeman. Spinal anesthesia, 715.
Austin, A. E., Ordway, Mabel, Montague, Ruth. On the absorption of protein and fat in pulmonary tuberculosis, 575.
Ayer, James B. An analysis of seventy-two cases of pneumothorax, 501.

Balch, F. G., Smith, G. G. Twenty-one cases of acute pancreatitis, 384.
Barney, J. Dellinger. The care and management of the tabetic bladder. I. Diagnosis, 933; II. Etiology, 985.
Boardman, William P. Further observations on the Wassermann reaction for syphilis, 641.
Bradford, E. H., Soutter, Robert. Scoliosis, 570.
Brewer, Isaac W. Tuberculosis amongst the Philippine scouts (native troops) of the United States army, 940.
Brown, Gordon T. The diagnosis of fractured skull as aided by the finding of brain tissue in the vomitus, 220.
Burns, Newell B. Note concerning brain and other visceral weights in sixty-six subjects showing carcinoma, 222.

Cabot, Hugh, Dodd, W. J. The diagnosis of stone in the pelvic portion of the ureter. A preliminary report on certain limitations of radiographic diagnosis and a suggested remedy, 85.
Cabot, Hugh. The value of tuberculin in tuberculosis of the urinary tract, 471; remarks on the technic of operations for stone in the ureter, 789; a case of myxo-fibro-sarcoma originating in the great omentum with involvement of the bladder and small intestine, 841.
Canavan, Myrtelle M. Bacillary dysentery at the Danvers State Hospital, Massachusetts, subsequent to the epidemic of 1908 (December, 1908–June, 1910), 209; organisms recovered from dysentery cases studied bacteriologically, December, 1908–June, 1910, Danvers State Hospital, Massachusetts, 211; mannite and non-mannite-fermenting organisms in a case of dysentery, complicated by hemorrhagic endometritis probably due to a third organism, 212; the persistence of agglutinins for B. dysenteriæ in Danvers Hospital cases, together with a series of conglutination tests, 212.
Canavan, Myrtelie M., Southard, E. E. Bacterial invasion of the blood and the cerebrospinal fluid by way of mesenteric lymph nodes: a study of fifty cases of mental disease, 202.
Chase, Richard F. Cholelithiasis, 639.
Chute, Arthur L. The small fibrous prostate, 606.
Clark, J. Payson. Two unusual cases of disease of the maxillary antrum, 395.
Clark, W. Irving. The etiology of cholecystic gallstones, 675.
Cobb, Carolus M. The necessity of the general practice of medicine as a preliminary training for those engaged in special work, 361.
Coolidge, A., Jr. The etiology of common colds, 58.
Coriat, Isador H. A case resembling myotonia occurring in an adult, due to the trichina spiralis, with the pathological findings in the muscles, 992.
Cornwall, Andrew P., Painter, Charles F. The technic of arthrotomy. A report upon and discussion of one hundred and ninety-eight cases, 601, 645, 688, 723, 760, 797.
Coues, William Pearce. Two cases of transverse subperiosteal fracture of the lower end of the radius in children, 364.
Crile, G. W. Phylogenetic association in relation to certain medical problems, 893.
Cumston, Charles Greene. An historical notice of the operation of Cæsarean section from the first operation to the midde of the eighteenth century, 316; spontaneous dislocation of the hip-joint following acute infectious diseases, 684; a biography of Charles Spon, M.D., 990.

DePaoli, E. Clinical and bacteriological researches on Mikulicz's method of rendering the peritoneum resistant to surgical infections, 759.
Dodd, W. J., Cabot, Hugh. The diagnosis of stone in the pelvic portion of the ureter. A preliminary report on certain limitations of radiographic diagnosis and a suggested remedy, 85.
Dodd, Walter L., Orton, Samuel T. Experiments on transmission of bacteria by flies with special relation to an epidemic of bacillary dysentery at the Worcester State Hospital, Massachusetts, 1910, 863.
Donley, John E. A fallacy of psychotherapy. "Fighting it out" in functional nervous disorders, 679.

Eastman, Theodore Jewett, Jackson, James Marsh. The present status of the treatment of exophthalmic goiter, 419.
Emerson, Francis P. Individual efficiency, 17.
Emerson, William R. P. The hygienic and dietetic treatment of delicate children by the class method (abstract), 320.

Foote, J. S. The comparative histology of femoral bones, 613.
Forbes, A. Mackenzie. Notes on the condition denominated external and internal atony, suggesting its association with tuberculosis, 249.

Gerrish, Frederic Henry. A crusade against syphilis and gonorrhea, 1.
Gilpatrick, R. H. Suture of the faucial pillars for hemorrhage following tonsillectomy, 97.
Goldthwait, Joel E. Distortion of the face and skull due to continued fixed posture in early infancy, 429.
Goodall, Henry Skinner. Some results of sanatorium treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis in children, 432.
Graves, W. B. Indications for abdominal hysterectomy, 379; post operative pneumonia without mortality in two thousand consecutive surgical operations at the Free Hospital for Women, 497; analysis of wound infection in one thousand consecutive clean operative cases, 610; operative treatment of atresia of the vagina, 753; present knowledge of the laws of heredity, 829.
Green, Robert M. Cancer of the scrotum, 755, 792.
Griffin, Walter A. The use of tuberculin at the Sharon sanatorium, 131.

Hamilton, A. S. A study of the senile spinal cord in cases of mental disease, 189.
Hanson, Justice G. Medical inspection in public schools, 242.
Hare, C. H. An extra-uterine pregnancy at full term, 873.
Hartwell, H. F. Bacterial vaccines in pyogenic infections of the urinary tract, 472.
Hastings, R. W., Leary, Timothy. The therapeutic use of ascitic fluid. (A preliminary communication), 283.
Hawes, John B., 2d. Educational methods in the anti-tuberculosis campaign, 350; the tuberculosis problem as applied to children, 904.
Hinsdale, Guy. The meteorologic and hygienic aspects of the floods in France in 1910, 290.
Hornor, Albert A. Incidence of heart disease in acute psychoses, Danvers State Hospital, Massachusetts, 1879–1909, 200.
Howe, Oliver H. The personal relation of the physician to his patients, 358.
Howland, C. A. Nephritis without albumen, 118.
Hubbard, Joshua C. Some observations on the surgery of the vascular system, 391.
Huntington, James Lincoln. Extraperitoneal Cæsarean section, 911.

Jackson, Henry. The clinical aspects of arteriosclerosis, 237.
Jackson, J. M., Eastman, Theodore Jewett. The present status of the treatment of exophthalmic goiter, 419.
Johnson, F. W. Ovarian cysts with twisted pedicles, 436; persistent vomiting of pregnancy, 474.

Kendall, Arthur I. Lactic acid bacteria; what they are and what they are supposed to do, 322; certain aspects of the bacteriology of bacillary dysentery, 398.
Kendall, Arthur I., Smith, Richard M. A rapid presumptive test for diarrhea caused by the gas bacillus, 578.

Lane, C. Guy. Bilharziasis; report of a case with appendicitis; literature since 1904, 937.
Leary, Timothy. Immunity with special reference to vaccine therapy, 527.
Leary, Timothy, Hastings, Robert W. The therapeutic use of ascitic fluid. (A preliminary communication), 283.
Lord, Frederick T. A contribution to the etiology of actinomycosis. The experimental production of actinomycosis in guinea pigs inoculated with the contents of carious teeth, 82.
Lothrop, Oliver A. The nasal septum; important points in anatomy and submucous resection, 128.
Lovett, Robert W. The occurrence of infantile paralysis in Massachusetts in 1909. Reported for the Massachusetts State Board of Health, 37.
Lucas, William Palmer. The diagnosis of infantile paralysis in the prodromal and early acute stage as found in the experimenntal study of acute poliomyelitis in monkeys, with report of findings in four human cases, 245.

Marshall, H. W. Principles underlying the study and treatment of chronic arthritis, 973.
McEvoy, George Albert. Stomach diseases from a medical standpoint, 692.
McIntosh, Herbert. The therapeutics of light, 906.
Montague, Ruth, Austin, A. E., Ordway, Mabel. On the absorption of protein and fat in pulmonary tuberculosis, 575.
Mumford, J. G. Types of Graves' disease, 532; post-operative psychoses, 838.
Myerson, Abraham. Two cases of common speech and voice defect and their treatment, 579.
Myrick, Hannah G. Some cases of sudden death during pregnancy and the puerperium, 764.

Newell, F. S. A case of hemorrhage of the newborn treated by direct transfusion; recovery, 435.
Nicola, C. C. Esophageal hemorrhage, 540.

Ordway, Mabel, Austin, A. E., Montague, Ruth. On the absorption of protein and fat in pulmonary tuberculosis, 575.
O'Reilly, Archer. Fracture of the lower epiphysis of the tibia, with a report of a case, 325.
Orton, Samuel T., Dodd, Walter L. Experiments on transmission of bacteria by flies with special relation to an epidemic of bacillary dysentery at the Worcester State Hospital, Massachusetts, 1910, 863.

Painter, Charles F. Tibiale externum and fracture of sesamoid. Report of cases, 362.
Painter, Charles F., Cornwall, Andrew P. The technic of arthrotomy. A report upon and discussion of one hundred and ninety-eight cases, 601, 645, 688, 723, 760, 797.
Peabody, A. H. An histological study of the thyroid gland in mental disease, with special reference to chronic thyroiditis, 196.
Pilcher, Paul M. Hemorrhage from the kidney, 12.
Place, Edwin H. Cutaneous diphtheria. Fatal primary case, 730.

Porter, Charles A. The surgical treatment of exophthalmic goiter 425.
Potter, Philip S. Bilious attacks in children, 55.
Powers, Charles A. Conical stump after amputation in childhood, 731.
Pratt, Joseph H. On the importance of determining the potency of digitalis preparations, 279.
Putnam, Mrs. William Lowell. Pregnancy, nursing and the care of young babies. An experiment in preventive medicine, 87.
Putnam, James J. On the etiology and treatment of the psychoneuroses, 75.

Reynolds, Edward. Gynecological operations on neurasthenics. Advantages, disadvantages, selection of cases, 113.
Richards, E. T. F. Primary adrenal tuberculosis in a case of juvenile general paresis with meningeal infection. (Bacillus coli communis), 215.
Richards, George L. A point in the technic of the use of nitrate of silver in the treatment of chronic suppurative otitis media, 402.
Ritchie, John. What medical societies can do for the health of the people, 857.
Robinson, Samuel. Acute thoracic empyema. Avoidance of chronic empyema. Rib trephining for suction drainage, 561.
Rosenau, M. J. A prophecy. Based upon studies in Pasteurization, 248.

Sanborn, George P. The place of tuberculin in the immunization of urogenital tuberculosis, 455.
Scudder, Charles L. The results of one hundred and sixty-eight operations for hernia, 343; congenital stenosis of the pylorus. The report of three successful cases following gastrojejunostomy. Remarks, 434.
Seelig, M. G. The doctrine of vitalism in medicine, 825.
Seelye, Walter C. The plastic surgery of the ovaries and tubes, 493.
Sever, James Warren. A report of the scoliosis department of the Children's Hospital, Boston, 309.
Shattuck, George Cheever. Etiology of elephantiasis, 718.
Sims, F. Robertson. A case of autochthonous sinus-thrombosis, 218.
Smith, G. G. Appendicitis during the year 1908–1909 at the Massachusetts General Hospital, 507.
Smith, G. G., Balch, F. G. Twenty-one cases of acute pancreatitis, 384.
Smith, Harold H. A case of Malta fever in Boston, 538.
Smith, R. M., Kendall, A. I. A rapid presumptive test for diarrhea caused by the gas bacillus, 578.
Smith, Theobald. What is the experimental basis for vaccine therapy? 275.
Smith, William H. A method of staining capsulated bacteria in body fluids, 791.
Southard, E. E. The laboratory work of the Danvers State Hospital, Hathorne, Massachusetts, with especial relation to the policy formulated by Dr. Charles Whitney Page, superintendent, 1888–1898, 1903–1910, 150; the margin of error in the diagnosis of mental disease, based on a clinical and anatomical review of 250 cases examined at the Danvers State Hospital, Massachusetts, 1904–1908, 155; a study of the dementia precox group in the light of certain cases showing anomalies or scleroses in particular brain regions, 159.
Southard, E. E., Canavan, Myrtelle M. Bacterial invasion of the blood and the cerebrospinal fluid by way of mesenteric lymph nodes: a study of fifty cases of mental disease, 202.
Soutter, Robert, Bradford, E. H. Scoliosis, 570.
Speidel, W. C. The extreme blood picture in a case of pernicious anemia, 650.
Spooner, J. Winthrop. The shooting of Salvatore Mirando, 508.

Taft, A. E. Lesions of the major trunk viscera in epileptics, 89; report of a study of Brown-Séquard's epilepsy in the guinea pig, 868.
Tenney, Elmer S. The sputum of typhoid fever patients as a possible source of infection, 124.
Truesdale, Philemon E. Acute pancreatitis, with the report of two cases, 462.
Tyrode, M. Vejux. Drugs in practice, 121.

Webber, S. G. Congenital ophthalmoplegia externa, 721.
West, George L. The presence of air in the blood vessels in medico-legal autopsies, 327.
Wickham, Louis. Radium therapy, 982.
Williams, John T. The influence of exhaustion upon puerperal morbidity. Based upon a study of 5,000 puerperia, 468.
Williams, Tom A. A case of crossed hemidysergia and tremor, with asynergia of binocular movements: comments, 309.
Woodbury, William R. Medical social service work, 288.
Woodbury, William R., Reed, Carlisle. Hysteria with autopsy, 535.

SUBJECTS.

Abdominal Hysterectomy, indications for, W. B. Graves, M.D., 379.
Actinomycosis, a contribution to the etiology of. The experimental production of actinomycosis in guinea pigs inoculated with the contents of carious teeth, Frederick T. Lord, M.D., 82.
Agglutinins, the persistence of, for B. dysenteriæ in Danvers Hospital cases, together with a series of conglutination tests, Myrtelle M. Canavan, M.D., 212.
Air Embolism. The presence of air in the blood vessels in medicolega autopsies, George L. West, M.D., 327.
Amputation in Childhood, conical stump after, Charles A. Powers, M.D., 731.
Anemia, the extreme blood picture in a case of pernicious, W. C. Speidel, M.D., 650.
Anesthesia, spinal, Freeman Allen, M.D., 715.
Appendicitis during the year 1908–1909 at the Massachusetts General Hospital, G. G. Smith, M.D., 507; with bilharziasis, C. Guy Lane, 937.
Arteriosclerosis, the clinical aspects of, Henry Jackson, M.D., 237.
Arthrotomy, the technic of: a report upon and discussion of one hundred and ninety-eight cases, Charles F. Painter, M.D., and Andrew P. Cornwall, M.D., 601, 645, 688, 723, 760, 797.
Arthritis, chronic. Principles underlying the study and treatment of, H. W. Marshall, 973.
Ascitic Fluid, the therapeutic use of: a preliminary communication, Timothy Leary, M.D., and Robert W. Hastings, M.D., 283.
Atony, notes on the condition denominated external and internal, suggesting its association with tuberculosis, A. Mackenzie Forbes, M.D., 249.
Atresia of the Vagina, operative treatment of, W. P. Graves, M.D., 753.
Autochthonous Sinus-Thrombosis, a case of, F. Robertson Sims, M.D., 218.

Bacterial Vaccines in pyogenic infections of the urinary tract, H. F. Hartwell, M.D., 472.
Bilharziasis: report of a case with appendicitis, C. Guy Lane, 937.
Bilious Attacks in Children, Philip S. Potter, M.D., 55.
Bladder, the care and management of tabetic, J. Dellinger Barney. I. Diagnosis, 933. II. Etiology, 985.
Book Reviews. James M. Anders, a textbook of the practice of medicine, 64; Harold Leslie Barnard, contributions to abdominal surgery, 263; W. Bateson, Mendel's principles of heredity, 138; Gustavus M. Belch, practical suggestions in borderland surgery, 701; August Bier, Bier's textbook of hyperemia, as applied in medicine and surgery, 701; E. Stanmore Bishop, lectures on surgical nursing, 701; J. Bland-Sutton, the diseases of women: a handbook for students and practitioners, 623; Alfred Bruck, the diseases of the nose, mouth, pharynx and larynx, 262; Joseph D. Bryant and Albert H. Buck, American practice of surgery, 409; Walter L. Burrage, gynecological diagnosis, 808; Aldo Castellani and Albert J. Chalmers, manual of tropical medicine, 370; Mrs. Burton Chance, the care of the child, 227; H. J. Jackson Clarke, congenital dislocation of the hip, 444; Arthur Cooper, the sexual disabilities of man and their treatment, 920; Frederic J. Cotton, dislocations and joint fractures, 483; L. R. G. Crandon, surgical after-treatment: a manual of the conduct of surgical convalescence, 369; C. W. Daniels, tropical medicine and hygiene, 550; Lavinia L. Dock, hygiene and morality, 334; William James Dugan, handbook of electro-therapeutics, 740; Paul Ehrlich and his collaborators, studies in immunity, 369; C. A. Ewald, the diseases of the thyroid gland: myxedema and cretinism, 227; Louis Fischer, diseases of infancy and childhood, 588; William Paul Gerhard, the water supply, sewerage and plumbing of modern city buildings, 137; Achille de Giovanni, clinical commentaries deduced from the morphology of the human body, 739; Hollis Godfrey, the health of the city, 295; M. Louise Greene, among school gardens, 64; Ernest W. Hey Groves, a synopsis of surgery, 296; Winfield S. Hall, nutrition and dietetics, 102; the Harvey lectures, 1907–8, 138; the Harvey lectures, 1908–9, 740; Frederick P. Henry, founders' week memorial volume, 843; George Howard Hoxie, symptomatic and regional therapeutics, 662; Woods Hutchinson, the conquest of consumption, 444; Woods Hutchinson, preventable diseases, 444; Adolph E. Ibershoff, physiology and pathology of the semicircular canals, 844; the international medical annual, 64; Robert Jardine, clinical obstetrics, 296; R. Llewellyn Jones, arthritis deformans, 138; George M. Katsainos, prophylaxis and treatment of syphilis, 623; W. W. Keen, surgery, its principles and practise, vol. v, 408; Robert Coleman Kemp, diseases of the stomach and intestines, 370; E. Heinrich Kisch, the sexual life of woman in its physiological, pathological and hygienic aspects, 482; Ernest Blake Knox, aids to microscopic diagnosis (bacterial and parasitic diseases), 517; Henry Koplik, the diseases of infancy and childhood, 138; Ralph Winnington Leftwich, an index of symptoms: with diagnostic methods, 227; Graham Lusk, the elements of the science of nutrition, 102; G. Betton Massey, ionic surgery in the treatment of cancer, 776; Isabel McIsaac, the elements of hygiene for schools, 138; W. C. Bosanquet and H. S. Clogg, the medico-chirurgical series no. 2: the stomach, intestines and pancreas, 263; the Medical Record visiting list, or physicians' diary for 1911, 881; Robert Milne, a plea for the home treatment and prevention of scarlet fever, 808; Robert T. Morris, dawn of the fourth era in surgery, and other short articles, 841; B. G. A. Moynihan, the pathology of the living and other essays, 296; P. Lockhart Mummery, diseases of the colon and their surgical treatment, 843; new and non-official remedies, 1910, 64; Albert J. Ochsner and Ralph L. Thompson, the surgery and pathology of the thyroid and parathyroid glands, 334; J. Bergen Ogden, clinical examination of the urine and urinary diagnosis, 334; G. E. Partridge, an outline of individual study, 297; Friedrich Pels-Leusden, chirurgische operationslehre für studierende und aerzte, 740; the practitioner's case book, 701; Walter L. Pyle, a manual of personal hygiene, 262; Ernst Romberg, a textbook of the diseases of the heart and of the blood vessels, 368; Thomas Morgan Rotch, living anatomy and pathology, 296; O. Rumpel, cystoscopy as adjuvant in surgery, 920; G. E. de Schweinitz, diseases of the eye, 517; Septimus Sisson, a textbook of veterinary anatomy, 880; Charles B. Slade, physical examination and diagnostic anatomy, 740; Myer Solis-Cohen, the family health, 26; Morse Stewart, pocket therapeutics and dose book, 64; Lewis A. Stimson, a practical treatise on fractures and dislocations, 296; Emily A. M. Stoney, practical points in nursing, 843; John M. Swan, prescription writing and formulary, 102; Frederick J. Taussig, prevention and treatment of abortion, 297; E. Q. Thornton, dose-book and manual of prescription writing, 26; Frederick Treves and Jonathan Hutchinson, a manual of operative surgery, 482; H. E. Wingfield, an introduction to the study of hypnotism, experimental and therapeutic, 881; Francis Carter Wood, chemical and microscopical diagnosis, 740; A. E. Wright, studies on immunization, and their application to diagnoses and treatment of bacterial infections, 297; Macleod Yearsley, a textbook of diseases of the ear, 137; Eugene S. Yonge, hay fever and paroxysmal sneezing (vasomotor rhinitis), 881; Philip Zenner, education in sexual physiology and hygiene: a physician's message, 881; George Dock and Charles C. Bass, hookworm disease, 958; Anthony Bassler, diseases of the stomach and upper alimentary tract, 998; Edmund Cautley, the diseases of infants and children, 998.
Brain and Other Visceral Weights in sixty-six subjects showing carcinoma, Newell B. Burns, M.D., 222.
Brown-Sequard's Epilepsy in the Guinea Pig, report of a study of, A. E. Taft, M.D., 868.

Cæsarean Section, extraperitoneal, James Lincoln Huntington, M.D., 911; an historical notice of the operation of, from the first operation to the middle of the eighteenth century, Charles Greene Cumston, M.D., 316.
Cancer of the scrotum, Robert M. Green, M.D., 755, 792.
Carcinoma, note concerning brain and other visceral weights in sixty-six subjects showing, Newell B. Burns, M.D., 222.
Children, the hygienic and dietetic treatment of delicate, by the class method (abstract), Wm. R. P. Emerson, M.D., 326; bilious attacks in, Philip S. Potter, M.D., 55; tuberculosis problem in, John B. Hawes, 2d, M.D., 904.
Cholelithiasis, Richard F. Chase, M.D., 639.
Common Colds, the etiology of, A. Coolidge, Jr., M.D., 58.
Congenital ophthalmoplegia externa, S. G. Webber, M.D., 721.
Correspondence. The advisability of the establishment of a state hospital for cases of nervous breakdown, William N. Bullard, 855; staining capsulated bacteria in body fluids, Henry A. Craig, 932; treatment of compound fractures in the Society Islands, Charles Greene Cumston, 377; "success in athletic sports," George V. N. Dearborn, 787; request for poliomyelitis material, Simon Flexner, 377; letter from Berlin. The polyklinik. Unusual cases of retention. Israel's klinik. Prostatic hypertrophy. Nephrectomy. The working capacity of the opposite kidney, "G.," 147; the question of serum therapy, P. W. Goldsbury, 35; "the patient to the doctor," Robert M. Green, 599; "Medicus Peregrinus" letters: an appreciation of the sea, 111; Dublin letter. Obstetrics in Ireland. Tuberculosis. Anti-vaccination agitation, 233; Lichfield and its medical traditions, 273; London and its hospitals, 305; Canterbury, 341; Bruges, Antwerp, the Belgians, the Rhine, Heidelberg, 417; Dresden, Rothenburg, Berlin, 452; Southampton and the Isle of Wight, 491; Winchester and the Arthurian region. Salisbury. Stonehenge. Gloucester. Bath, 557; Tewkesbury. Gloucester. Chepstow. Monmouth. Raglan. Ross. Hereford. Worcester. Shrewsbury. Chester. Liverpool University, 635. Exaggeration of the prevalence of venereal disease, C. C. Nicola, 146; Paris letter: a novel cure for diabetes, "S.," 271; Paris letter: the effect of radium on cancerous tumors, "S.," 72; Paris letter: notes of travel, "S.," 451; Paris letter: solar cure of surgical tuberculosis, "S.," 672; Paris letter: recent developments in the syphilis question, "S.," 822; "infectiousness and prophylaxis of croupous pneumonia," Edmund D. Spear, 931; the advisability of the establishment of a state hospital for cases of nervous breakdown, Henry R. Stedman, 892; deaths under anesthetics, F. J. Waldo, 307; clean sweet milk and "votes for women," "X.," 599; Letter from Paris: a strange source of infection. Concerning the surgeon Roux. An abortive treatment of syphilis, "S.," 970; report of the Massachusetts Tuberculosis Commission, Arthur T. Cabot, M.D., 971; antityphoid sanitation vs. inoculation, 1009; the importance of humidity in the treatment of cough, 1010.
Cutaneous Diphtheria. Fatal primary case, Edwin H. Place, M.D., 730.
Cysts, Ovarian, with twisted pedicles, F. W. Johnson, M.D., 436.

Danvers State Hospital laboratory papers. 1910. Charles Whitney Page series. The laboratory work of the Danvers State Hospital, Hathorne, Mass., with especial relation to the policy formulated by Dr. Charles Whitney Page, superintendent, 1888–1898, 1903–1910, E. E. Southard, M.D., 150.
Dementia Precox Group, a study of the, in the light of certain cases showing anomalies or scleroses in particular brain regions, E. E. Southard, M.D., 159.
Dermatology, progress in, 581.
Diarrhea caused by the gas bacillus, a rapid presumptive test for, Arthur I. Kendall, Ph.D., and Richard M. Smith, M.D., 578.
Digitalis Preparations, on the importance of determining the potency of, Joseph H. Pratt, M.D., 279.
Diphtheria, cutaneous, fatal primary case, Edwin H. Place, M.D., 730.
Dislocation of Hip-Joint, spontaneous, following infectious disease, Charles Greene Cumston, M.D., 684.
Distortion of the face and skull due to continued fixed posture in early infancy, Joel E. Goldthwait, M.D., 429.

Drugs in Practice, M. Vejux Tyrode, M.D., 121.
Dysentery. Experiments on transmission of bacteria by flies, Samuel T. Orton, M.D., and Walter L. Dodd, M.D., 863; organisms recovered from dysentery cases studied bacteriologically, December, 1908–June, 1910, Danvers State Hospital, Massachusetts, Myrtelle M. Canavan, M.D., 211; mannite and non-mannite-fermenting organisms in a case of dysentery, complicated by hemorrhagic endometritis probably due to a third organism, Myrtelle M. Canavan, M.D., 212; certain aspects of the bacteriology of bacillary dysentery, Arthur I. Kendall, Ph.D., 308; bacillary dysentery at the Danvers State Hospital, Massachusetts, subsequent to the epidemic of 1908 (December, 1908–June, 1910), Myrtelle M. Canavan, M.D., 209; the persistence of agglutinins for B. dysenteriæ in Danvers Hospital cases, together with a series of conglutination tests, Myrtelle M. Canavan, M.D., 327.

Editorials. The anti-vivisection agitation, 27; an important charity, 28; eugenics again, 28; lunches for school children, 28; meeting of the National Education Association, 65; public enlightenment on medical subjects, 66; extermination of mosquitoes on Staten Island, 66; the prevention of ophthalmia neonatorum, 103; advisability of antityphoid inoculation, 104; the city and its consumptives 105; child suicides, 139; the training of health officers, 140; medical birthday honors in England, 141; illegitimacy in France, 141; death expensive custom, 228; infant mortality in New York, 229; the opium traffic, 263; the medical student and his finances, 264; the wanderings of a smallpox patient, 264; a community's waste, 297; the poliomyelitis situation, 298; American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infantile Mortality, 299; Florence Nightingale, 335; the growth of a great London hospital, 336; the nursing spirit, 370; congestion of population in New York, 371; Dr. Flexner's request for poliomyelitis material, 371; government advice as to the keeping of diphtheria antitoxin, 372; result of the Fourth of July precautions, 410; medical enrollment, 410; workmen's compensation act, 411; the question of pasteurized milk, 445; Asiatic cholera, 446; the question of infant mortality, 483; the etiology of beriberi, 484; medical care of deep-sea fishermen, 518; modern methods in clinical psychiatry, 519; the dustless age, 520; progress of the European epidemic of cholera, 551; notes on the tuberculosis campaign, 551; milk transportation rates, 552; some public abominations, 589; cholera situation, 589; dangers of scanty water supply, 590; cholera then and now, 590; the Boston Hospital School, 591; psychology for physicians, 591; Dr. Crile's ether address, 624; progress of antityphoid inoculation, 624; the Hospital of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, 625; the therapeutic value of radium, 626; medical aspects of late marriage, 663; cultivation of animal cells outside the body, 663; certified milk, 664; health of the United States Army, 664; further condemnation of oyster beds, 664; continuance of the Boston hospital school, 665; dentists in the army and navy, 665; the captain of the hosts of death, 702; increase in deaths from heart disease, 702; success in athletic sports, 703; dangers of epizootic anthrax, 703; continuance of the drought in Massachusetts, 703; substitutes for the public drinking cup, 704; Dr. Grenfell and his work, 704; some biologic aspects of cancer, 741; the hospital school for tuberculous children at Franklin Park, 741; the economic cost of diseases, 743; increase of births in France, 743; new therapeutic use of formalin, 743; the superheated American house, 777; pulmonary hemorrhage at high altitude, 777; an isolation pavilion at Aix-les-Bains, 778; the abolition of public abominations, 809; one aspect of venereal prophylaxis, 810; administration of the Rockefeller Foundation, 811; spread of antityphoid inoculation, 811; decline of natural increase of population in the United States, 811; proportion of physicians to population in Germany, 812; the Carney Hospital and the retirement of Sister Gonzaga, 812; our heterogeneous urbanized population, 845; the prophylaxis of croupous pneumonia, 845; Hospital Bureau of Standards and Supplies, 846; immunity of animals to poisons, 847; report of the Massachusetts Tuberculosis Commission, 882; notification of syphilis and gonorrhea, 883; typhoid fever epidemics, 883; a typhoid carrier, 884; medical education at Harvard University and abroad, 920; some aspects of heredity, 921; continuance of drought in Massachusetts, 921; prosecution of the ordinance against spitting, 922; episodes in the suppression of the illegal sale and use of drugs, 922; reading for physicians, 959; prevention of abuse of medical charity, 959; advancing standards of medical education, 960; international opium conference, 960; Christmas and the physician, 999; report of the surgeon-general of the navy, 999; standards in selection of recruits for the army, 1000; some generous public bequests, 1000; the retirement of Dr. Jelly, 1001; mitigation of drought in New England, 1001.
Efficiency, individual, Francis P. Emerson, M.D., 17.
Elephantiasis, etiology of, George Cheever Shattuck, M.D., 718.
Empyema, acute thoracic, avoidance of chronic empyema. Rib trephining for suction drainage, Samuel Robinson, M.D., 561.
Epileptics, lesions of the major trunk viscera in, A. E. Taft, M.D., 89.
Esophageal Hemorrhage, C. C. Nicola, M.D., 540.
"Ether Day" Address. Phylogenetic association in relation to certain medical problems, George W. Crile, M.D., 893.
Exhaustion, influence of, upon puerperal morbidity, John T. Williams, M.D., 468.
Exophthalmic Goiter, the surgical treatment of, Charles A. Porter, M.D., 425; the present status of the treatment of, James Marsh Jackson, M.D., and Theodore Jewett Eastman, M.D., 419; types of, James G. Mumford, M.D., 532.
Extra-Uterine pregnancy at full term, C. H. Hare, M.D., 873.

Face and Skull, distortion of, due to continued fixed posture in early infancy, Joel E. Goldthwait, M.D., 429.
Fats, some effects of overfeeding with, in certain cases of insanity, Herman M. Adler, 225.
Femoral Bones, comparative histology of, J. S. Foote, M.D., 613.
Flies, experiments on transmission of bacteria by, with special relation to an epidemic of bacillary dysentery at the Worcester State Hospital, Massachusetts, 1910, Samuel T. Orton, A.M., M.D., and Walter L. Dodd, 863.
Fracture of the lower epiphysis of the tibia, with a report of a case, Archer O'Reilly, M.D., 325.
Fractured Skull, the diagnosis of, as aided by the finding of brain tissue in the vomitus, Gordon T. Brown, M.D., 220.
Fracture of the lower end of the radius in children, two cases of transverse subperiosteal, Wm. Pearce Coues, M.D., 364.
France, a study of floods in, Guy Hinsdale, M.D., 290.

Gallstones, cholecystic, the etiology of, W. Irving Clark, M.D., 675.
Gastric and duodenal ulcer, F. W. Palfrey, M.D., 616, 653.
General Practice of Medicine, the necessity of, as a preliminary training for those engaged in special work, Carolus M. Cobb, M.D., 361.
Genito-Urinary Surgery, progress in, Francis S. Watson and Paul Thorndike, 951.
Gonorrhea, a crusade against syphilis and, Frederic Henry Gerrish, M.D., LL.D., 1.
Graves' Disease, types of, J. G. Mumford, M.D., 532.
Gynecological operations on neurasthenics. Advantages, disadvantages, selection of cases, Edward Reynolds, M.D., 113.

Hemidysergia and tremor, a case of crossed, with asynergia of binocular movements: comments, Tom A. Williams, M.B., C.M., 399.
Hemorrhage, of the newborn, a case of, treated by direct transfusion: recovery, F. S. Newell, M.D., 435; from the kidney, Paul M. Pilcher, A.M., M.D., 12; esophageal, C. C. Nicola, M.D., 540; following tonsillectomy, suture of the faucial pillars for, R. H. Gilpatrick, M.D., 97.
Heredity, present knowledge of the laws of, W. P. Graves, M.D., 829.
Hernia. The results of one hundred and sixty-eight operations for, Charles L. Scudder, M.D., 343.
Hip-Joint, spontaneous dislocation of, following acute infectious diseases, Charles Greene Cumston, M.D., 684.
Histology, the comparative, of femoral bones, J. S. Foote, M.D., 613.
Hysterectomy, abdominal, indications for, W. B. Graves, M.D., 370.
Hysteria, with autopsy, William R. Woodbury, M.D., and Carlisle Reed, M.D., 535.

Immunity with special reference to vaccine therapy, Timothy Leary, M.D., 527.
Individual Efficiency, Francis P. Emerson, M.D., 17.
Infantile Paralysis, the occurrence of, in Massachusetts in 1909: reported for the Massachusetts State Board of Health, Robert W. Lovett, M.D., 37; the diagnosis of, in the prodromal and early acute stage as found in the experimental study of acute poliomyelitis in monkeys, with report of findings in four human cases, William Palmer Lucas, M.D., 245.
Insanity, some effects of overfeeding with fats in certain cases of, Herman M. Adler, 225.
Inspection, medical, of public schools, Justice G. Hanson, M.D., 242.

Kidney, hemorrhage from, Paul M. Pilcher, M.D., 12.

Lactic Acid Bacteria: what they are and what they are supposed to do, Arthur I. Kendall, Ph.D., 322.
Laryngology, progress in, 252.
Light, the therapeutics of, Herbert McIntosh, A.M., M.D., 906.

Malta Fever, a case of, in Boston, Harold H. Smith, M.D., 538.
Maxillary Antrum, two unusual cases of disease of the, J. Payson Clark, M.D., 395.
Medical Inspection in public schools, Justice G. Hanson, M.D., 242.
Medical Jurisprudence. The shooting of Salvatore Mirando, J. Winthrop Spooner, M.D., 508; the presence of air in the blood vessels in medico-legal autopsies, George L. West, M.D., 327.
Medical Social Service work, William R. Woodbury, M.D., 288.
Medical Societies: what they can do for the health of the people, John Ritchie, Jr., 857.
Mental Disease. Bacterial invasion of the blood and the cerebrospinal fluid by way of mesenteric lymph nodes: a study of fifty cases of mental disease, E. E. Southard, M.D., and Myrtelle M. Canavan, M.D., 202; ten obscure cases of, a clinical and anatomical study, L. B. Alford, A.B., 182; the margin of error in the diagnosis of, based on a clinical and anatomical review of two hundred and fifty cases examined at the Danvers State Hospital, Massachusetts, 1904–8, E. E. Southard, M.D., 155; a study of the senile spinal cord in cases of, A. S. Hamilton, M.D., 189.
Meteorologic and hygienic aspects of the floods in France in 1910, Guy Hinsdale, M.D., 290.
Mikulicz's Method of rendering the peritoneum resistant to surgical infections, clinical and bacteriological researches on, Prof. E. De Paoli, M.D., 759.
Miscellany. William James, M.D., LL.D., a tribute, 377; Ehrlich's new preparation (606) in the treatment of syphilis, 598; Massachusetts Medical Society: proceedings of the council, Oct. 5, 1910, 634; army medical corps examination, 751; measles among the Aleuts, 751; "pneumonic plague" in England, 787; cholera in various localities, 821; desirability of a state psychopathic hospital, 822; light labor for consumptives, 855; American Society of Medical Sociology, 855; classification and examination of medical inspectors of schools, 931; midwinter meeting of the Æsculapian Club, 969; the prevention of plague in India, 969; Harvard public medical lectures for 1911, 1009.
Myotonia, a case resembling, due to trichina spiralis, Isador H. Coriat, 992.
Myxo-fibro-sarcoma, a case of, originating in the great omentum, with involvement of the bladder and small intestine, Hugh Cabot, M.D., 841.

Nasal Septum: Important points in anatomy and submucous resection, Oliver A. Lothrop, M.D., 128.
Nephritis without albumen, C. A. Howland, M.D., 118.
Neurasthenics, gynecological operations on, Edward Reynolds, M.D., 113.
Neurology, progress in, 693, 731.
Nitrate of Silver, a point in the technic of the use of, in the treatment of chronic suppurative otitis media, George L. Richards, M.D., 402.

Obituaries. H. H. A. Beach, M.D., 71; Charles Jewett, M.D., 271; Robert Amory, M.D., 416; Emily Blackwell, M.D., 450; Francis Collamore, M.D., 490; Gustav Baumgarten, M.D., 525; Henry Hammond Gallison, M.D., 634; Gustavus Lincoln Simmons, M.D., 713; Samuel Alexander, M.D., 891; John Cummings Munro, M.D., 929; Christian Archibald Herter, M.D., 930; John Chalmers

Da Costa, M.D., 931; Frederick Wilcox Chapin, M.D., 968; John C DaCosta, M.D., 969.
Obstetrics, report in, 328.
Ophthalmology, progress in, 767.
Ophthalmoplegia Externa, congenital, S. G. Webber, M.D., 721.
Orthopedic Surgery, progress in, 802.
Otitis Media, chronic suppurative, use of nitrate of silver in, George L. Richards, M.D., 402.
Otology, progress in, 404, 436, 474, 508.
Ovaries and Tubes, the plastic surgery of, Walter C. Seelye, M.D., 493.
Ovarian Cysts with twisted pedicles, F. W. Johnson, M.D., 436.

Pancreatitis, twenty-one cases of acute, F. G. Balch, M.D., and G. G. Smith, M.D., 384; acute, with the report of two cases, Philemon E. Truesdale, M.D., 462.
Pasteurization, a prophecy, based upon studies in, M. J. Rosenau, 248.
Personal Relation of the physician to his patients, Oliver H. Howe, M.D., 358.
Pharmacology, progress in, 19.
Phylogenetic Association in relation to certain medical problems, G. W. Crile, M.D., 893.
Physician, personal relation of, to his patients, Oliver H. Howe, M.D., 358.
Physiological Chemistry, progress in, 541.
Pneumonia, post-operative, without mortality in two thousand consecutive surgical operations at the Free Hospital for Women, W. P. Graves, M.D., 497.
Practice of Medicine, progress in, 616, 653.
Pneumothorax, an analysis of seventy-two cases of, James B. Ayer, M.D., 50.
Pregnancy, extra-uterine, at full term, C. H. Hare, M.D., 873; nursing and the care of young babies: an experiment in preventive medicine, Mrs. William Lowell Putnam, 87; persistent vomiting of, F. W. Johnson, M.D., 474; and the puerperium, some cases of sudden death during, Hannah G. Myrick, M.D., 764.
Preventive Medicine, an experiment in, Mrs. William Lowell Putnam, 87.
Progress. Report on dermatology, John T. Bowen and Harvey P. Towle, 581; report on progress in orthopedic surgery, E. H. Bradford, 802; recent progress in laryngology, A. Coolidge, Jr., and D. Crosby Greene, 252; report of obstetrics, Robert L. De Normandie, 328; report on neurology, Philip Coombs Knapp, 693, 731; report of progress in otology, Harris Peyton Mosher, 364, 404, 436, 474, 508; recent progress in physiological chemistry, J. Bergen Ogden, 541; progress in the theory and practice of medicine. Gastric and duodenal ulcer, Francis W. Palfrey, 616, 653; progress in surgery. Thoracic surgery, Samuel Robinson, 875, 914; recent progress in ophthalmology, Myles Standish and Edmund W. Clap, 767; progress in pharmacology and experimental therapeutics, Maurice Vejux Tyrode, 19; recent progress in genito-urinary surgery, Francis S. Watson and Paul Thorndike, 951.
Prostate, the small fibrous, Arthur L. Chute, M.D., 606.
Psychoneuroses, on the etiology and treatment of, James J. Putnam, M.D., 75.
Psychoses, incidence of heart disease in acute, Danvers State Hospital, Massachusetts, 1879–1909, Albert A. Hornor, 2d, A.B., 200; post-operative, James G. Mumford, M.D., 838.
Psychotherapy, a fallacy of. " Fighting it out " in functional nervous disorders, John E. Donley, M.D., 679.
Puerperal Morbidity, the influence of exhaustion upon: based upon a study of five thousand puerperia, John T. Williams, M.D., 468.
Pylorus, congenital stenosis of. The report of three successful cases following gastrojejunostomy. Remarks, Charles L. Scudder, M.D., 434.

Radium Therapy, Louis Wickham, 982.

Scoliosis, E. H. Bradford, M.D., and Robert Soutter, M.D., 570.
Scoliosis Department of the Children's Hospital, Boston, a report of the, James Warren Sever, M.D., 309.
Scrotum, cancer of the, Robert M. Green, M.D., 755.
Shattuck Lecture. A crusade against syphilis and gonorrhea, Frederick H. Gerrish, M.D., 1.
Sinus-Thrombosis, autochthonous, a case of, F. Robertson Sims, M.D., 218.
Social Service Work, medical, William R. Woodbury, M.D., 288.
Societies. The American Climatological Association, 696, 734, 770; the American Dermatological Association, 441, 477; the American Gastro-Enterological Association, 544; American Laryngological Association, 877, 918; the American Neurological Association, 23, 61, 98, 134; American Psycho-Pathological Association, 366; American Surgical Association, 583, 619, 659; American Urological Association, 513; College of Physicians of Philadelphia, 806, 842; Connecticut State Medical Society, 258, 291; New England Otological and Laryngological Society, 407; New England Pediatric Society, 333; Rhode Island Medical Society, 132; New England Branch of the American Urological Association, 942; American Laryngological Association, 956, 994.
Speech and Voice Defect and their treatment: two cases of, Abraham Myerson, M.D., 579.
Spinal Anesthesia, Freeman Allen, M.D., 715.
Spinal Cord, a study of senile, in mental disease, A. S. Hamilton, M.D., 189.
Spon, Charles, a biography of, Charles Greene Cumston, 990.
Staining Capsulated Bacteria in body fluids, a method of, William H. Smith, M.D., 791.
Stenosis, congenital, of the pylorus, Charles L. Scudder, M.D., 434.
Stomach Diseases from a medical standpoint, George Albert McEvoy, M.D., 692.
Stone in the Ureter, remarks on the technic of operations for, Hugh Cabot, M.D., 789.
Stone in the Pelvic Portion of the ureter, the diagnosis of. A preliminary report on certain limitations of radiographic diagnosis and a suggested remedy, Hugh Cabot, M.D., and W. J. Dodd, M.D., 85.
Sudden Death during pregnancy and puerperium, Hannah G. Myrick, M.D., 764.
Surgery, progress in, 875, 914.
Syphilis, further observations on the Wassermann reaction for, Wm. P. Boardman, M.D., 641.

Tabetic Bladder, the care and management of, J. Dellinger Barney. I. Diagnosis, 933. II. Etiology, 985.
Thoracic Surgery, Samuel Robinson, M.D., 875, 914.
Thyroid Gland, an histological study of, in mental disease, with special reference to chronic thyroiditis, A. H. Peabody, M.D., 196.
Tibia, fracture of lower epiphysis of, Archer O'Reilly, M.D., 325.
Tibiale Externum and fracture of sesamoid: report of cases, Charles F. Painter, M.D., 362.
Tonsillectomy, treatment of hemorrhage following, R. H. Gilpatrick, M.D., 97.
Transfusion, direct, in hemorrhage of the newborn, F. S. Newell, M.D., 435.
Trichina Spiralis, a case resembling myotonia due to, with the pathological findings in the muscles, Isador H. Coriat, 992.
Tuberculin, the place of, in the immunization of urogenital tuberculosis, Geo. P. Sanborn, M.D., 455; the use of, at the Sharon sanatorium, Walter A. Griffin, M.D., 131; the value of, in tuberculosis of the urinary tract, Hugh Cabot, M.D., 471; the tuberculosis problem as applied to children, John B. Hawes, 2d, M.D., 904.
Tuberculosis, atony: notes suggesting its association with, A. Mackenzie Forbes, M.D., 249; primary adrenal, in a case of juvenile general paresis with meningeal infection. (Bacillus coli communis), E. T. F. Richards, M.D., 215; educational methods in the anti-tuberculosis campaign, John B. Hawes, 2d, M.D., 350; amongst the Philippine scouts of the United States Army, Isaac W. Brewer, 940.
Tuberculosis, Pulmonary, on the absorption of protein and fat in, A. E. Austin, M.D., Mabel Ordway, M.D., and Ruth Montague, M.D., 575; some results of sanatorium treatment of, in children, Henry Skinner Goodall, A.B., M.D., 432.
Typhoid Fever Patients, the sputum of, as a possible source of infection, Elmer S. Tenney, B.L., M.D., 124.

Vaccines, bacterial, in pyogenic infections of the urinary tract, H. F. Hartwell, M.D., 472.
Vaccine Therapy, what is the experimental basis for, Theobald Smith, M.D., 275; in relation to immunity, Timothy Leary, M.D., 527.
Vagina, atresia of, W. P. Graves, M.D., 753.
Vascular System, some observations on the surgery of, Joshua C. Hubbard, M.D., 391.
Vitalism in Medicine, the doctrine of, M. G. Seelig, M.D., 825.

Wound Infection, analysis of, in one thousand consecutive clean operative cases, W. P. Graves, M.D., 610.